

Toast On The Go

Stovetop toasters are an essential for long holidays, and there's now a handy new product on the market. This nifty little toaster is designed for toasting, roasting, melting and heating on your stovetop, whether you're at home, camping, or in the comfort of your van.

It's simple to use on all stovetops, including gas, electricity, charcoal, or even a wood fire, and its compact design makes it very handy in the cramped confines of a van. These toasters have been used for decades in South America, and are now finally available in Australia through ARGAU.
