A stovetop mega toaster

The Argau toaster has turned out to be such a success that the importer, Petra Schwarz, has put a bigger, full-size griller on the market.

The griller works just like its little brother, it sits on top of virtually any heatsource such as gas, an open fire, charcoal or even the barbecue.

The lightweight metal base is covered with baked enamel for ease of cleaning. Even any crumbs are collected in the tray for easy disposal.

The mega toaster can be used to cook a range of camp foods, like steak, sausages, chicken or chops.

As no flame comes in contact with the food, meats and the like are roasted in a healthy way.

And it also toasts any type, size or shape of bread, from crumpets to croissants or even a damper.

It's a fantastic and easy way to have some toasted and roasted goodies when you're out camping. The unit also folds down to a slim package for easy storage in your caravan or camping kit.

The Argau stovetop mega toaster costs $49.50 including postage and is available through the On The Road Country Store. Call 1300 135 048 to place an order.
